Importance Of Presenting Different Treatment Options To Patients

April 29, 2021

9:00 PM - 11:00 PM (2 hours)

Dr. Ryan Tse

The Hong Kong Society of Esthetic Dentistry

We're excited to announce our partnership with iLoveDentistry StudyClub (iLDStudyClub.com) on a new Study Club project. iLD StudyClubs is built around a vision to help, inspire and provide a platform that educates as many dentists as possible through high-quality dental study club education, from world-class clinical experts and other resources for you to learn from.

We have 6 StudyClub events planned for this year, across different topics, from case presentations & treatment planning, restorations, dental implant loading, implant restorations, treating & diagnosing non-odontogenic pain, and a very special session that covers fundamentals within the business side of dentistry.

These study club sessions are a great opportunity for you as a dentist to take part in, connect, share and learn from one another.

There will be an expert speaker session for the first hour, following which is a breakout session for the second hour. The breakout sessions are designed in a way to instill the true essence of networking & connecting to lead meaningful discussions that make up a unique learning experience that's different from traditional online events.

Our first study club session is coming up on April 29th, on “The Importance of presenting different treatment options to patients!”.

Here's more information on the upcoming study club session;
